Community Connection

AI Summary

Review an automatically generated summary of thoughts in this theme

The responses to the asked question demonstrate a desire for improved communication and transparency between the school district and the community, especially parents of the students. Suggestions include providing more information on the current curriculum and weekly or monthly updates from classroom teachers, as well as more input from teachers and parents when making schedules and planning for the year. Additionally, there is a call for more open communication to reduce rumors, and for the use of Parent Square as a platform for communication. Other suggestions include timely gradebook updates, more time in the classroom, better support from administrators, and more community-based supports in school. Finally, there is a call for more consideration of working parents when scheduling activities, and for updates to the Jr. Sr. High School gym.

Very Happy to see the district reaching out to the community for input.

Community engagement with the district helps drive improvements. The district can't fix issues they are unaware of.

Have teachers put grades in gradebook in a timely manner. Last year 5 weeks before 20 grades put in and by then too late as a parent to help.

How can parents help their children if they don't know what the problem is. I have battled this for 5 yrs at all levels of admin and to no avail.

The school district has done a good job providing opportunity to our students. Communication can always be improved and this platform is a good start

It's important that everyone understands the broad view of the topics and isn't hearing only one side.
